ABOUT GDL

Founded in 1996, GDL is a kitchenware manufacturer based in Foshan, China. We specialize in manual food preparation tools, with a focus on product development, practical innovation and continuous improvement.

Product development

We develop new products and refine existing designs around everyday food preparation needs. Our team considers product structure, cutting performance, ergonomics and ease of cleaning to create tools that are practical to use.

Practical innovation

We turn customer feedback and real-use observations into design improvements. Through prototypes, testing and design revisions, we work to make products easier to operate, more reliable and better suited to their intended markets.

Continuous improvement

Our work continues after a product enters production. We review materials, component fit, durability and manufacturing consistency, refining the details that shape everyday performance and long-term quality.

With in-house design, mold making, injection molding and assembly, we bring development and manufacturing together to support OEM and ODM projects.
